

TOOELE ARMY DEPOT

FAST FACTS

- For 70+ years, TEAD has served the Department of Defense as the western region conventional ammunition hub supporting all military services/agencies with superior readiness.
- TEAD is made up of two core functions: conventional ammunition mission logistics and ammunition equipment handling and manufacturing:
 - Receiving/shipping/storage of conventional ammunition; from small arms to large caliber munitions
 - Demilitarization of conventional ammunition that was deemed obsolete in the DoD stockpile or identified as unstable in storage.
 - Method of demilitarization capabilities include:
 - Open detonation
 - Open burn
 - Static fire
 - Incineration
 - Reuse, Recycle, Reclaim (R3) capabilities
- TEAD has vast capabilities and technology for engineering solutions for ammunition handling, hazardous materials and routine manufacturing for government and commercial clients, around the world.
 - In 2010, TEAD was officially designated by the Secretary of the Army as a Center of Industrial and Technical Excellence (CITE) for Ammunition Peculiar Equipment (APE).
- TEAD is leading the way for military installations within the Army Materiel Command (AMC) in alternative energy, with plans to become Net Zero by 2019:
 - In 2010, a 1.5 MW wind turbine was erected by the Army Corps of Engineers
 - 14 each, 1942 era maintenance and storage facilities were equipped with solar walls for heating.
 - In 2012, approximately 15 acres was designated for 429 each Stirling Solar Array PowerDishes to be constructed. To date, all 429 PowerDishes have been constructed, and is scheduled to be operational within 2015.
 - In 2015, a $5 million contract awarded by the Army Corps of Engineers for a Micro Grid to store generated power and controls power supply.
 - In the fall of 2015, a 2nd 1.8MW wind turbine will be operational.

- Demographics:
 - Located in Tooele County, Utah, just 35 miles west of the Salt lake City International Airport.
 - 43,364 total acres
 - 2.7 million square feet of storage space
 - 3 rail lines, 2 classification yards
- Economic Impacts:
 - Fiscal year 15 operating budget: $63.8 million
 - Payroll: $38.9 million
 - 2014 direct purchases of goods and services from Utah businesses: $8.5 million
 - 2nd largest military installation in Utah
 - 3rd largest employer in Tooele County
 - 48% of employees are Veterans
 - Of 480 DoD civilian employees, 76 percent live within Tooele County

Public Affairs Office

Phone: 435-833-2693

E-mail: teadpao@conus.army.mil

Social Media: Web page: www.tooele.army.mil

Facebook: www.facebook.com/TooeleArmyDepot

